Herndon, Virginia

22nd Edition

Herndon High School Library
Herndon, Virginia

This is Herndon High School—the foundation of a unique society; a nebulous organization depending only upon the student and his ability to develop a seeking mind and a desire to conquer our ever-moving world, profiting from its lessons and growing with its CHANGES ...

Student teacher, Miss Holland, teaches history.

"I don't like cows."

Senior secretary, Linda Hinson, smiles over her loaded desk.

"Say cheese?"

"We call them meatballs ... but this one tastes different"

The Sophomore Class decorated its Christmas tree.

Judy Page and Luther Nossett discuss their mistakes.

The Hornet Proudly Dedicates This

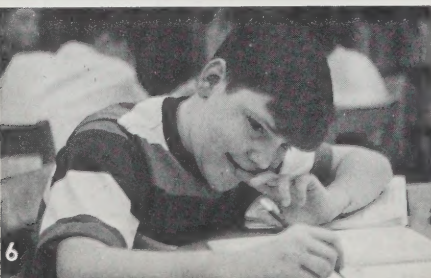

The first 1966-1967 pep rally
"Simon says ... Hands up!"

"Dedication ... to one's school, to one's friends, to one's country."

"Students, teachers, and ever present spirit."

"Concentrating on a funny math problem?"

Issue To The Personality Of Our School

"Oh no! I forgot to dot the i!"

For her long years of service to every student, teacher, administrator, and custodian; for her understanding and sympathy during times of joy and sorrow; for her endless patience with unruly students; and for her faithful support of the high standards which we strive to meet; we dedicate this yearbook to Herndon High School, the very reason for our pride in what we represent.

"I don't know what that is either."

"Thank goodness for a generous friend."
Students listen to Mr. Redding's lectures.

Faculty And Personnel

It is the teachers who are affected most by our changing society, for they must meet these changes, and work to shape new ideas where old ones can no longer exist.

Mr. Michael and Mr. McFarland discuss office problems.

School Administrators Prepare For

Mr. McFarland checks over the floor plan for the new school.

Mr. James McFarland has worked for many years, first as assistant principal, and now as principal of Herndon High School. He received his B.A. degree at Sheperd College and M.A. at George Washington University. After four years of teaching in Augusta County, he coached football, and later track, at Wilson High School.

During his time at Herndon, Mr. McFarland has fully achieved the honor deserving of one who devotes his time to the welfare of the student body.

Mr. Michael checks up on an absent student.

Orientation At The New High School

Mr. Hinkle checks his files.

Everyone knows the familiar smiling face of Mr. Lonnie Hinkle. Mr. Hinkle earned his A.B. degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College and his M. Ed. at the University of Pennsylvania. Currently he is a doctoral candidate at George Washington University. Since his arrival in 1962, Mr. Hinkle's loyalty has given Herndon students an excellent reason to be proud of their assistant principal for instruction.

* For the second year, Herndon has been honored with the presence of Mr. J. A. Michail, assistant principal for administration. Mr. Michail received his B.A. from Randolph-Macon College and his M.A. from the University of Virginia. During his administration he has unselfishly devoted his valuable time to Herndon's faculty and students.

SECRETARIES: (L. to R.) Seated Mrs. Brown. Standing Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Maurer, Mrs. Pickett, Mrs. Young.

School Paperwork Processed

Mrs. Case transcribes from the dictaphone.

Faced daily by piles of paperwork and typing, Herndon's secretaries must also double as note-decipherers, lost student advisors, and angry parent-pacifiers; making their job more difficult, yet much more satisfying. Somehow, as many phases of school life continue to change, these people manage to retain their dependability, and are always nearby when they are most needed.

Whether the subject is arranging for after-school work, designing schedules, or planning for a college education, the guidance counselors are always ready to provide students with sound advice. This year, the department was able to participate in a College Day for interested students, and to arrange for visiting representatives from various employment offices. The dedicated staff has contributed a great deal of time and effort to the welfare of HHS.

Jerry McLearn talks with the C. & P. Telephone Company representatives.

CAFETERIA WORKERS: (L. to R.) Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Shifflett, Mrs. Poland, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Hutchison, Mrs. Smelser, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Stern.

Spotlessness And Efficiency

Mrs. Turner pours herself a cup of coffee

Coping with the 29% increase in the cost of school lunches was only one of the problems faced by cafeteria workers this year. These persons must prepare over 500 well-balanced meals every day, collect at least $250.00 and wash hundreds of dishes and silverware. Despite their many duties, they have succeeded in providing our students with many tasty lunches.

Responsible for the attractive appearance of our school and campus, the janitors spend hours to ensure cleanliness and efficiency in their jobs. Waxing, sweeping, and collecting tons of paper which must be disposed of daily, makes the janitor's job difficult but very important to the functioning of the school.

"Betty" Copeland is always ready to help the students.

Maintained By Hard-Working Staff

JANITORS: Mr. Kidwell, Mr. Cox, Mr. Emmert, Mr. Ogden, Mrs. Copeland.

Interest In Math And Science Developed

Once again, science teachers must be recognized for achieving such interest in their field. One of their most productive projects was an assembly on "Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy", where simple experiments fascinated the entire student body. Enthused participation in the Science Fair and in related programs has made science well appreciated by our student body.

Mrs. Remsburg and Mrs. Byrnes laugh over a sick fish.

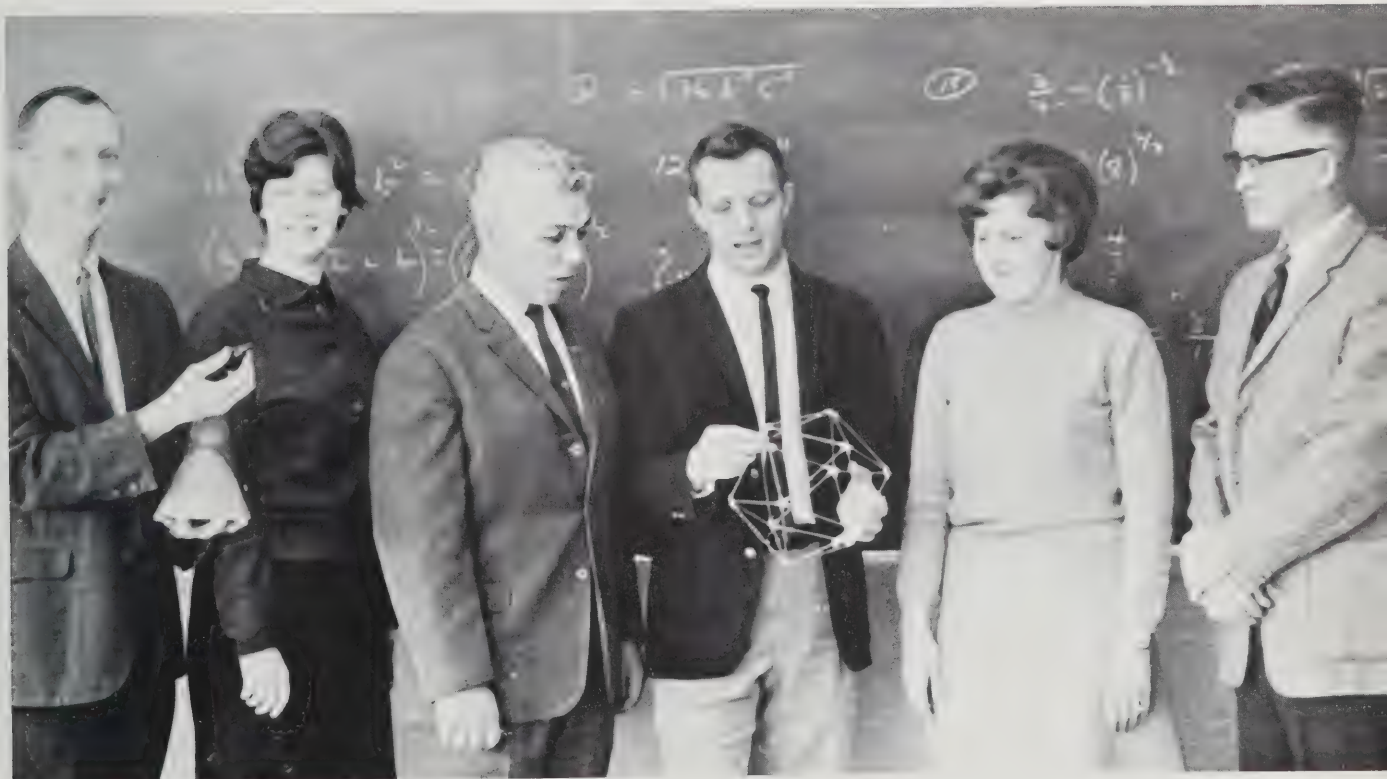

Mr. Kaylor, Mr. Case, and Mrs. Withers wash glassware as Mr. Stemple and Mr. Exline supervise.

through Group Competition

Herndon's mathematics courses have always been noted for their quality, and again this year, the students' accomplishments have proved this to be true. Participating in county meets with such large schools as Fairfax, Madison, and Woodson, the newly-formed math team scored high in group competition. Other contests sponsored by the department have been supported by many students, showing again Herndon's interest in mathematics.

Mr. Schaffer demonstrates mathematical principles.

MATH DEPT: (L. to R.) Mr. Brooks, Mrs. Beardmore, Maj. Hunt, Mrs. McClung, Mr. Thompson

ENGLISH DEPT: (L. to R.) Mr. Middleton, Miss Duke, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Costa, Mrs. Swetnam, Mrs. Stirewalt, Mrs. Gibbs.

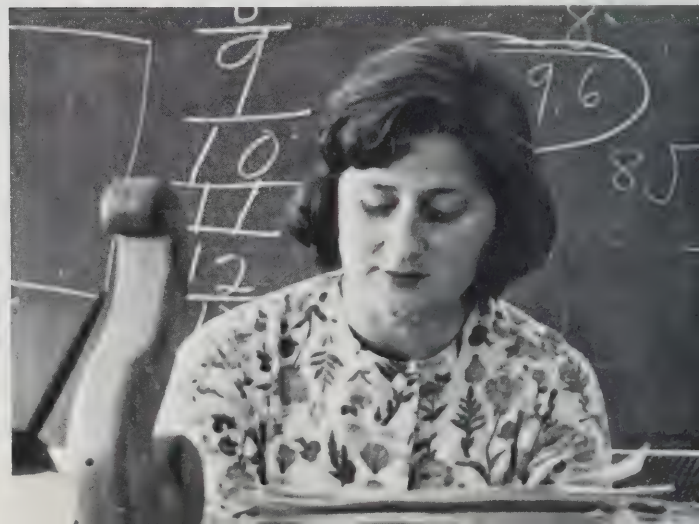

Dramatics Studies Highlighted By

Mrs. Costa puts assignments on the board.

As they learn about readin' and ritin', English students have found how interesting this course can be. Members of Mrs. Swetnam's classes were startled when one student, lecturing on the art of judo, suddenly flipped an incoming office messenger onto the floor. Another surprise occurred when they learned that the whole act was rigged. Through this, and many calmer incidents, English can and has been an enjoyable subject.

Mrs. Johnson tries to understand Silas Marner.

Miss Smith checks the cheerleader list.

Intermediate students in English, social studies, and guidance, enjoyed a varied schedule this year. English classes produced an enjoyable skit for a Christmas assembly; seventh graders toured the colonial sections of Jamestown and Williamsburg; and students received visiting speakers who lectured on careers. These programs decidedly will be of use to the students in the future as well as the present.

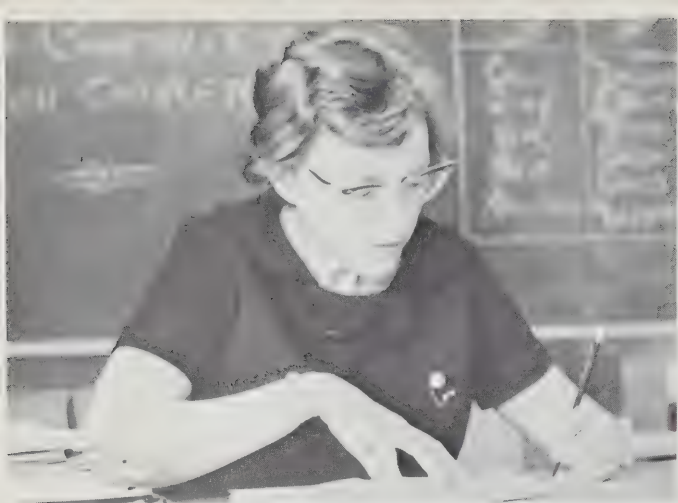

Eighth graders play an April Fool's joke on Miss Guerin.

Intermediates' Skit

Miss Whitman checks notebooks.

History students have greatly benefited from programs designed to increase interest in their studies this year. Senior government classes joined many voters and civic groups when they submitted plans for re-districting Fairfax County. Other projects included participation in a Student Government Day and a mock Supreme Court Trial. Through these and many other curricula, social studies has become a varied and interesting course.

Student Teachers Initiated In

Social Studies And Language Departments

For the first time at Herndon, student teachers have been added to the faculty this year, easing overcrowded schedules as they are introduced to the trials of teaching. Supplied by Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Madison College, the newcomers have participated in Spanish and World History classes. The success of this program has ensured its continuation in the following years.

Bev Allen and Connie Cross look depressed during French class.

Mrs. Alger frowns before the start of French III class.

Creative Talents Cultivated

Mrs. Grubb jokes about Mr. Knapp's painting in the teachers' lounge.

FINE ARTS DEPT: (L. to R.) Mr. Buchanan, Mrs. Grubb, Mr. Swiney.

In Herndon's Fine Arts Program

Mr. Swiney relaxes.

The Fine Arts department has grown from a very limited division to one which offers a wide variety of activities. Recognition for both art and music sections was achieved this year through a Pop Art exhibit entitled "Money is the Root of All Evil", designed by art students; and by the chorus' participation in choral contests and assemblies at neighboring school. These persons, with the aid of our well-equipped library and staff, have made Fine Arts a major part of our curricula.

Practical Skills Stressed

JoAnne Alexander works on her dress.

Mrs. Cyrus, and Mrs. Leigh are getting ready for a demonstration.

Cooking, sewing, and designing creatively is the major emphasis in the home economics suite this year. Often, the sources have been supplemented with interesting lectures and demonstrations by representatives from various companies. By giving the girls a chance to display their own products, as in the annual fashion show, interest is heightened in a subject important to future homemakers.

For Use In Home And Shop

Mr. Beto is showing Mr. Click the principles of mechanical drawing.

Aside from regular shop and drafting courses, this year students in the industrial arts program were allowed to participate in special engineering and architectural classes, where they drew as their major project of the year, complete plans for either a bridge or a house.

In other phases of the department, students and teachers turned out such articles as a grandfather clock, mosaic tiles, and wooden furniture; giving them a chance to prepare for future use of these important skills.

Mr. Beam shows off his gardenias.

Business And Reading Classes Study

BUSINESS DEPT: (L. to R.) Mr. Stevens, Mr. Souder, Miss Jones.

Business students at Herndon are presented with a varied and complete choice of courses. Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping—all the courses needed to make a top-notch typist or stenographer. A new data-processing course was added when the administration purchased a computer to help with the voluminous job of record keeping and course-selecting for a student body with over a thousand members. The business department is both a useful and necessary part of our school.

The business department had a new addition in the form of student teacher, Miss Matthews.

For Broader Education For Future Occupations

Miss Robinson teaches a geography lesson to her special education class.

Herndon's Reading and Special Education Department offers courses ranging from college preparatory reading to special education classes where students learn more about different phases of life in their country. In late March, Special Education classes took their first airplane ride in a private plane from Dulles Airport, where they flew over the Leesburg and Herndon areas. These and many other programs have helped the students achieve a fuller and broader education.

Mrs. Stafford checks the meaning of phagi in the dictionary.

Physical Fitness Stressed

HEALTH AND P.E. TEACHERS: (L. to R.) Mr. Ashwell, Miss LeDane, Mr. Rolley, and Mr. Griffiths.

"Line up, girls."

By Athletic Department

Always working to keep Herndon's students in top condition, the physical education department has added several activities to last year's curricula. A new weight reducing club, for girls only, gives group support to those with little will-power. Tennis lessons, an enlarged girl's track program, and many other plans, have served to fulfill the need for increased exercise.

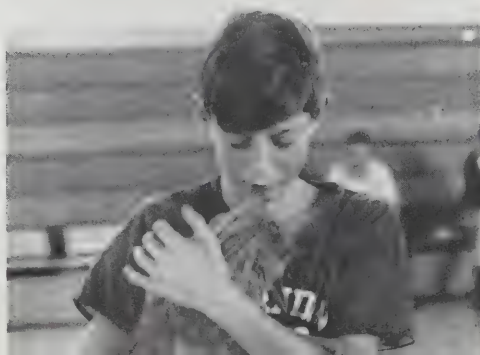

"This is the third time they've sent me to the showers today."

"I got 'em first!"

Up, Down, Up, Down. "Boy! I wonder if this is gonna help?"

Chris Nichols and friend prepare for exercises.

Students

Changing ideas have descended imperceptibly upon the student of Herndon High School. His outlook has become broader, his position higher, and most of all, his wisdom more complete.

Sports

From shuffleboard to football, athletics at Herndon High School reflect the changing moods which are ever present among the student body.

Editor's Note: Since this is the first year that the Hornet has been a full-year coverage yearbook, it is necessary that both last year's and this year's spring sports be included.

Hornets Emerge As 1-B District

It was a great year for our varsity football team and one that the boys who played will remember for a long time to come. While District Championships are by no means rare events at HHS, this past season was one well worth reviewing.

Although the team's two pre-season games were unsuccessful, they helped to spot flaws which could be ironed out before league play. The Hornets showed their true form against Loudoun County by beating them 33-6 in the opening game of the season. From then on the team traveled an unmarred path straight to the championship.

Herndon rolled over Loudoun Valley 20-0 the following week and then downed the Fauquier Falcons 20-14 in a game which proved to the team that they would have to work. As team spirit began snowballing, a fantastic six busloads of students traveled to Clarke County to see Herndon battle to a 7-7 tie with the Eagles. Next on the agenda was George Mason, our traditional rival. In perhaps the most difficult game of the season, Hornets emerged victorious at 13-12. James Wood fell at 20-13, leaving Handley our greatest obstacle. In a fitting end to a great season, the Hornets became the 1966 1-B Group District Champions by fighting a sparkplugged Handley offense to a 14-14 standstill.

Cross country, which was begun at Herndon last year, came into its own as a sport this past season. The team, composed of boys who were mainly interested in getting into shape for the wrestling or basketball seasons which were upcoming, realized their first victory against Clarke County. Although they were weakened on the state level by the loss of several seniors, the team did not do poorly. And more important, they established a precedent which should help cross country to command a position of importance on the Herndon athletic roster.

Learned What School Spirit Means

Basketball was a mixture of the unique and the unexpected at Herndon this year. Coach Rolley began the season with fifteen boys ... and concluded with fifteen men.

The season was not successful, especially considering the tremendous potential and experience of the starting five. The boys had problems getting their feet on the ground in the first half of the season, and although they scored decisive victories in several instances, were never able to achieve the prominence they desired.

But when those who played reflect on this season several years from now, they will remember that they learned one of life's hardest lessons from a man who had the patience to teach them.

Ask anyone who witnessed the final game with Handley—fifteen men played the best game of their lives.

Promise For Next Year's Team

Bobby Bowers takes a long shot.

The Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Souder, had a less successful season this year than in the past. Gary Bush, the only freshman player on the team, and Bobby Bowers led the scorers as they worked diligently in an effort to overcome their more practiced opponents. In spite of their record, the boys have gained many important skills which indicate their potential for the following years.

The Herndon "matmen" had another extremely successful season this year and wound up in second place in league competition, just behind their rivals, James Wood.

The Hornet Grapplers battled their way to two firsts in the district meet, with Tom Haynie winning in the 165 lb. class and Alan Thompson scoring a victory at 145. Bob Daugherty, Richard Brooks, Tommy Alexander, Richard McNutt, and Tommy James all placed second to help the team secure its position.

In the state competition, Alan Thompson was victorious in the 145 lb. class and represented Herndon's first state champion.

The boys are looking forward to next year's season and feel that Mr. Powell will be able to lead them to a District Championship.

The junior varsity basketball team, under the direction of Miss McClung, may certainly be commended for their fine effort during the season. Though their scores weren't high at first, later they proved that great ability existed in the team members. Track 1966 —

Herndon's track team began working in the spring of 1966 with about 30 boys and a common goal—defense of their championship crown. The team was not large, but a percentage were lettermen with experience in statewide competition.

The team's drive toward a second state victory began with the third annual Herndon Relays, which we completely dominated. With the arrival of warm weather, the team took shape and began building momentum—rolling undefeated through the district schedule. The season ended with a sweeping victory at state, and our second straight track crown as Stan Young paced a team of twelve boys to an uncontested victory—38½ to 19. The team passed on a tremendous opportunity to this year's squad—a chance to set an unprecedented track record: a triple crown on state level!

And Third State Championship

Track 1967 —

The HHS 1967 Track Team continued an unbelievable career as they swept to their third consecutive championship! Beginning with the Herndon Relays, the team rolled undefeated through league competition.

As the all-important District Meet approached, however, the team was beset with serious injuries to top performers—Thomas Parnham, Allan Thompson, Vaughn Lewis. The boys proved that they were indeed champions as they captured the district title in spite of their setbacks.

As the State Meet approached, the district winners, many still crippled, prepared to defend their crown. The result was an uncontended victory, with Skinny Rankin, Bill White, and the 880 relay team becoming state champions. Coaches Schaffer and Ashwell can be truly proud of the athletes they have produced.

The baseball team got off to a somewhat slow start this spring, but wound up in a tie for second and last place in the district standings. The team suffered from a lack of older, experienced boys to lead the effort. Softball — 1967

Although the season was not very successful "score-wise", the Varsity Girls' Softball Team showed group spirit as they cheered on Pat Price's home run and consoled Maria Salazar when she was struck in the eye with the ball.

Junior Varsity members also found competition tough this spring as they matched the varsity teams' scoring. Coach Miss Robinson agreed that the girls need work, but expects a great team next year.

Herndon "Putters" And Coach Whitener In Third

Golf — 1966

In 1966, Herndon's golf team was able to defeat opposers from Faquier and Clark High Schools, teams which had much more experience than Herndon's "two-year-olds." The boys gained skills under the leadership of Coach Whitener and at the Reston Golf Course.

Mr. Whitener and opposing coaches grimly watch the golf match.

Golf — 1967

This year turned out to be the "putters" best season, as they put down opposition in many county schools. Two seniors, Jeff Purcell and Norman Thienel, contributed their skills while underclassmen gained experience. Coach Mr. Whitener added they will "do better next year."

Jeff Pursell hits a little more than the ball.

The HORNET staff ... They are the invisible force of workers who have dedicated their time to the seemingly endless tasks of photography, copy, layout, secretarial work, and advertising. Their job is one of journalism: they must be on-the-spot reporters to catch the excitement of school events and picture them in the lasting record of our publication. Yet the job has not ended until the last deadline has been met, and they can present to their supporters a finished yearbook to which they can be proud to have given a part of themselves.

Once published as the Broadcast, the Stinger has progressed from a mimeographed sheet to the present printed edition. School events, sports coverage, and student opinions are summed up by the journalists every month and distributed to the student body on third Fridays. Editor Jody Ellison and her staff worked hard this year to produce a publication which kept students well informed of important events.

Quill and Scroll —

Sponsor—Mrs. Swetnam

As Tri-M is the musical honor society, Quill and Scroll is a literary honor society. Its members are outstanding contributors to the Stinger, Hornet, and Scribe staffs. Like Tri-M, Quill and Scroll is a national organization. The club's goal is to recognize excellence in publications. Since Quill and Scroll has no officers, this standard of perfection is upheld by each member.

Tri-M —

President—Bob Chapman

Vice President—Jeff Purcell

Secretary-Treasurer—Joan Tenenbaum

Tri-M is the musical honor society. Its officers lead the club activities of supporting the band and chorus, and by collecting for the National Symphony. To become a Tri-M member, one must pass a written exam, be recommended by a teacher, have good grades, be approved by all other members, and perform before the student body. A Tri-M member's watchword is excellence.

Members of the Intermediate Student Cooperative Association have been very active this year in providing entertainment as well as useful programs for seventh and eighth graders. Perhaps one of the most successful projects was the clean-up campaign in early spring, when competing homerooms vied for the title of "Cleanest", and for a prize of free ice cream. Other programs, including picnics, assemblies, and dances; made this a year to remember for the Intermediate students.

Caroline and Sidney Spalding get ready for the Science Fair.

Highlighting the scientists' year of '67 were the annual Science Fair and a trip to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science where students' projects were exhibited in the newly-formed Science Club Council and Convention. Record numbers of Herndon students attended these sessions, proving that the Club had truly increased interest in science at HHS.

Traditionally serving as photographers for both the Stinger and the Hornet, Photo Club members work diligently to fulfill their many duties. Wishing to increase competition for better pictures, President, Lynn Woodard, held a photo contest which was won in late November by Kenny Garrett. This and many working sessions in the lab and around the school have helped to produce the pictures which are so necessary to our school publications.

The Intermediate Safety Club, in co-ordination with the high school club, meets during school hours to solve safety problems within the school. Their main function is to prepare for fire drills by holding doors open so that they might expediate the progress of students leaving the school. The members also participated in the Safety Week by spreading interest in the program throughout the Intermediate School.

STA (Stop Teenage Accidents), the theme of this year's safety week, which was co-sponsored by the Keyette-Interact and Safety Club, proved to be highly successful at Herndon High School. After a week of safety programs such as brake-reaction tests, bumper sticker and back seat license distributions, and night-driving tests, Safety Week ended with an assembly based on the experiences of Bob Harkey, a professional race driver. Members of the Safety Club, as well as the entire student body, benefited greatly from the program.

Led by cheerleader, Susan Anderson, the Pep Club succeeded in raising school spirit to an overwhelming high at Herndon this year. Patriotic posters colored the halls with slogans of "Go Hornets!", and class competition was feverish as students vied for the Spirit Stick. Pep Club members certainly succeeded in their drive to arouse a sense of unity in our student body.

Susan Anderson calls the Pep Club meeting to order.

During A Spirited Homecoming

This was a year of the spirit stick and the year of spirit; when the Herndon Hornets tromped the West Springfield fighters at the Homecoming game. This was the year that Barbara Norman was queen; Lynn Thompson, maid of honor; and Susan Anderson, Pat Peer, Kathy Nichter, Cynthia O'Meara, and Karen Pitts were princesses.

Indeed, Homecoming was a success for the many Herndon students and alumnae who were present for the traditional crowning of the queen, and at a winning game for our team.

Pep posters summed up school spirit.

Lynn Woodard (Captain), Philip Bray, and Norman Thienel represented Herndon in the fall of '66 when they participated in the TV quiz program, IT'S ACADEMIC. Sponsored by Miss Duke, the three students, with alternates Buddy Dawson and Thomas Parnham, attended the show to compete against Montgomery and Frederick Sasser High Schools. During an exciting game, Herndon's cheerleaders spurred the team to a close tie in the first and second quarters, but they were finally defeated by students from Frederick Sasser, in spite of their fine performance against tough competition.

Basketball Team Establishes A New

The Majorettes form an arch for the Court to pass through.

Mr. McFarland tells Carolyn Kriss that she is Herndon's first Basketball Queen.

This year, to help continue football season's tremendous school spirit, Mr. Griffiths and the basketball team began a new tradition at Herndon High School. During the basketball season, students attending basketball games cast votes for their favorite class princess, who had been elected at the beginning of the term.

At a spectacular presentation, Queen Carolyn Kriss was presented to onlookers during halftime of the last game of the season, when Herndon opposed Loudoun County.

After performing honors at halftime, Captain Thomas Parnham finished the game as high scorer against the Eagles, while Carolyn reigned as befitted a queen.

Annual Science Fair

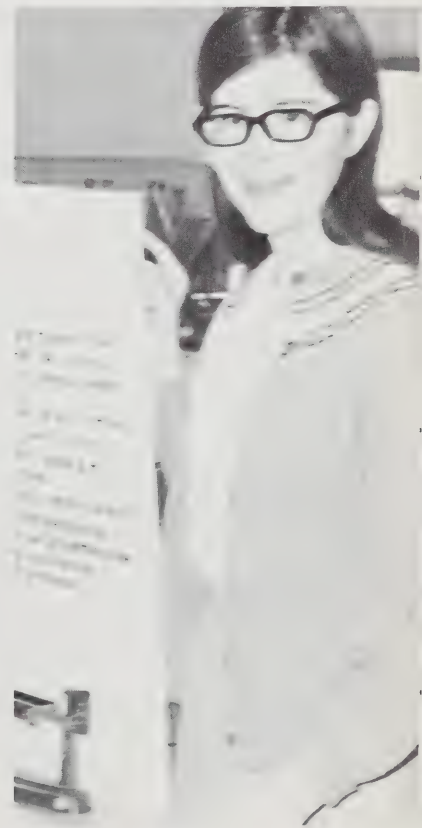

Frank Lysy and his smog.

The Science Fair of February 24 and 25 was such a success that it was impossible to tell the projects that had been done the night before from the ones which took weeks of work. Prominent local scientists were present to judge the large number of exhibits presented by at least thirty students.

Winners of the four categories: biology, chemistry, earth science, and physics were Lynn Woodard, Frank Lysy, Jessie Harkness, Kathy Thompson, and Janet Grimsley, who also won the overall prize. The projects which were sent to regional competition, accumulated over sixteen various prizes and awards, proving that their quality was worthy of Herndon High School.

Annual SCA Elections

Flamboyant posters entitled "Marty for President" or "Cross is Best" set the scene for the annual school election week in late March. As campaigning became more intense, mysterious signs announcing a "black horse candidate" appeared in the halls, and "Greg for King of Vice" became the favorite password.

Concluding the week in a more serious manner, candidates addressed the student body during an assembly. Martin Woodard (Pres.), Richard Brooks (V.P.), Pam Curry (Sec.), and Stuart Downs (Treas.), were elected the new officers of the Student Cooperative Association.

An Evening Of Excitement

Billy VornDick leads his band of workers.

Surrounded by jungles filled with colorful birds, monkeys, and giraffes, upper classmen danced to the music of the "Jesters", as they enjoyed the annual Junior-Senior prom in late May.

After entering through a leafy passageway, the guests were received into the well-disguised and beautifully decorated gymnasium. Perhaps the most outstanding exhibit was the dormant volcano-fountain placed near the band.

Throughout the evening, beachcomber waitresses, dressed in blue shifts, served snacks of fruit and punch. Everyone agreed that this was perhaps one of Herndon's best proms.

Keyettes and Interact form a truce for the evening.

Graduating Seniors Set New

While the boys are discussing the war in Viet Nam, the girls turn to more serious matters.

Mixed emotions are evident on the faces of these soon-to-be-graduated seniors.

Tradition In Red And White Robes

Mr. James Maloney, a White House Fellow, addresses the graduates.

Although their class colors were navy blue and white, the graduating seniors began a new tradition as they donned red and white robes to signify their school spirit. Again breaking established rules, vespers and graduation ceremonies were held in the auditorium of the new Herndon High School, where the students took advantage of the newly-installed air conditioning.

Mr. James Maloney, from the White House, addressed the graduating students and gave them the age-old advice to "make good of themselves". At last, each student had received his diploma, and the alumni filed away to meet the future.

Friends and relatives from far and near convene to watch the ceremony.

Pat Peer receives the award for the highest scholastic average.

Mr. Case in a serious (??) mood

As Editor of the 1967 Hornet, I would like to express my appreciation for some of the people who have made this yearbook possible.

Many thanks go to John Swope of the 1966 Hornet staff for designing the cover seal for the Hornet, and the SCA for appropriating $125 dollars for the die. Without Mr. Case's help, we would not have been able to complete this yearbook. His superior knowledge of photography has rescued many almost hopeless situations.

But, most of all, I would like to express my thanks to the 1967 Hornet Staff ... especially to Sue Hoch,

Edith Spalding, Betty Marshall, Chip Jordan, Carol Spalding, Susie Nagy, and Janet Grimsley. They always answered to last minute calls for help before deadline times, and made the Staff run smoothly.

Thanks also to the "Photo-Lab Gang": Kenny, Mike, Billy, Earnie, Herbie, Danny, Eric, and all the rest. They quickly learned how to process pictures needed in a pinch.

These are the people who have worked together to make our yearbook one we can be proud to present to you.
